Our Vision and Mission

The foundation of the Southside String Festival was established by a group of music educators collaborating with the local music institution Music Creators, who saw the need to fill a gap in our community to ensure all young string players had more opportunity to showcase their brilliant performance ability and creative learning technique.

Brisbane is developing as a strong musical hotspot with exciting and innovative music festivals and competitions offering many musical opportunities. Southside Brisbane has a substantial number of young musicians, especially in classical strings. We aim to provide an online environment to motivate young string students to develop their skills and raise artistic levels. The online platform provides an environment that allows the student to maximise their creative skills with confidence.

Due to the success of the 2022 Festival we have decided to continue the competition in it's online format for 2023. This online format will be explained in the Online Solo Sessions page and the Online Ensemble Session page of the website. We encourage students and String ensembles from many parts of the Queensland region, as well as interstate and overseas, to participate in the Online Festival.

Southside String Festival (SSSF) 2023 includes online competitions for individual solo players and ensembles. We aim to provide an environment to motivate young students to develop their skills and raise artistic levels.

- Identify and promote the talent and abilities of young classical string player.
- Expose the competitors to the requirements of professional careers as soloists and orchestral musicians.
- Develop the performing abilities of our young classical musicians.

The solid connection with the professional music industry provided the opportunities to young string players. As well as the clear educational outcomes, it offered young musicians the chance for peer learning outside school environments and substantial partnerships with retail and educational institutions.
